 I feel a moral debt to the next generation of Aberystwythians, at least to give a little back of what I gained. More than that, though: giving to Aber lets me feel that there is some part of me still there in Aberystwyth. No working day drudgery is so irredeemably dreary, no spreadsheet so stubbornly intractable, no meeting so mind-numbingly tedious that it cannot be lightened by the thought that a small portion of what I earn for it will be going back home to Aber!
