

HUMAN GEOGRAPHY

Time allowed: 1.5 hours (90 minutes)

TWO questions should be attempted

---

1. To what extent is the study of globalization relevant to the countryside?
2. To what extent do maps always lie?
3. To what extent do we need to consider issues of power when studying contemporary migration?
4. How can human geography help us understand and mitigate the effects of climate change?
5. To what extent do physical and imagined borders play a role in shaping group identity?
6. To what extent is there a need to 'level up' the United Kingdom?
7. How are smart and digital technologies (e.g. smartphones and wearable technologies) changing what it means to be a human?
8. What kinds of insights might human geographers provide to food production and consumption?
9. To what extent should human geographers engage with all five human senses (sight, sound, smell, touch, taste) when trying to understand the distinctiveness of places?
10. How might geographers study languages?
